01 Executive Coaching

Are you ready to take your leadership and management to the next level? Do you need more support manifesting the vision you have for yourself and your business?

Great leaders and managers must strengthen themselves before they can build a strong team. Sometimes you need someone to help train you for this role and future roles as your organization expands.

We offer frequent, consistent coaching to business owners, executives and managers to enable their growth so they can grow their people and profit.

02 Employee Coaching

Do you have someone on your team who needs help building their confidence, creating healthy work habits or increasing their emotional intelligence?

Each member of your organization requires support, and employing a focused strategy with clear objectives and responsibilities can assist individuals in overcoming barriers to their success.

We provide regular, reliable coaching to staff, concentrating on specific areas of growth and responsibilities in alignment with the business owner's improvement goals.

Confidence Course & EQ Coaching Program

“Building Confidence” is a 6-8 week course designed for people in any role who wish to improve their courage and confidence both personally and professionally.

In this curriculum, participants will complete activities to rewrite inner narratives and level-up outer countenance. The course concludes with a Legacy Letter to their future self - a powerful way to cement learning and keep their professional path focused forward.

Forward’s EQ Coaching Program is a 4-6 week course designed for anyone who desires to grow their EQ muscles. This is for any level in the organization and addresses Self Awareness, Self Management, Relationship Management and Social Awareness.

Through this work you’ll learn about your shadow triggers, develop tools to help with your “pause muscle” before reacting, and wrap up with deep reflection and goal setting.

04 ASCEND Peer Groups

“ASCEND” is a group of leaders who gather for the purpose of accountability, strategizing, collaboration, encouragement, networking and development. This model is successful when members commit fully to their own growth and to each other.

With monthly calls and live meetings twice annually, members are committed to transparency and feedback. They encourage each other to keep moving forward toward personal and professional goals. Group members commit to this investment for the sake of strengthening their leadership, thus creating growth in their teams and their businesses.
